Qasil is one of East Africa's best-kept skincare secrets. Qasil is a fine powder ground from the leaves of the Gob tree native to Somalia and used amongst women in Somalia. This fine powder is full of nutrients that detoxify the skin and hair. In mask form, it brings impurities from underneath the skin to the surface, aids in the healing of stubborn breakouts, and drastically minimizes the appearance of pores and dark spots.

Amazing and durable jacket

Ryan M

It was a gift for a friend and she completely loved it and her warm and stylish she could wear it with almost everything that she has in her wardrobe. She uses it for many things including hiking and put it through the test of actual outdoors being involved in her purchase. And whenever she doesn't use it for the outdoors she uses it casually, which is a great alternative for her because she likes to be diversified in her closet.

Have been buying the Denali since the first ones, and personally own 3. I want A new one, white with the gray in xxl. Not interested in cream and black. Pluck the length is shorter.
